FOREWORD

This publication contains the contact details as well as the nature of business of black empowerment mining companies. These are companies owned by previously disadvantaged people including women in the South African mining industry. They were in operation at the time of publication of this directory.

The aim of the publication is to promote the companies and their projects, as well as to create an awareness of black empowerment mining companies and their progress.

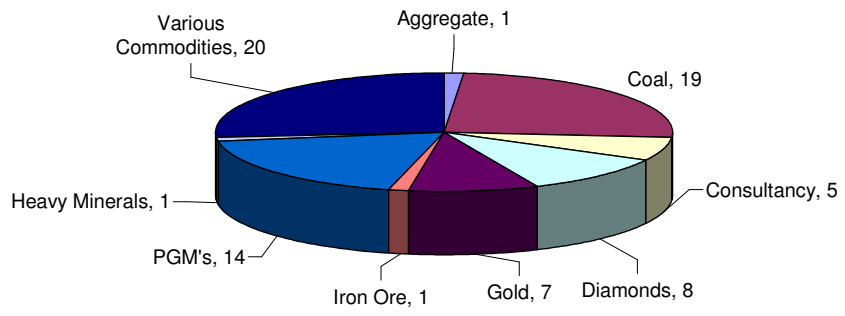

We express the hope that the companies listed will enjoy a higher profile and that future revisions will include more successful companies, information on employment created, social upliftment and economic growth generated.

July 2008

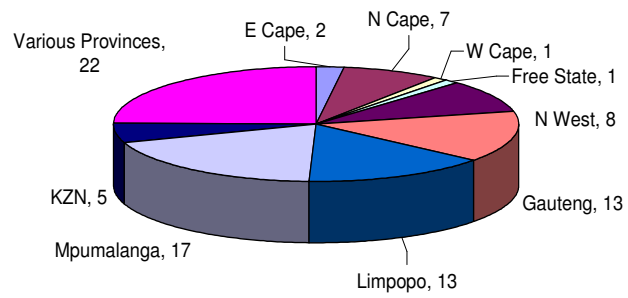

NOTE

While the Department of Minerals and Energy endeavored to include all relevant companies active in the South African mining industry some omissions and oversights might have occurred. Please inform the Department of Minerals and Energy to ensure that your company is included in the next edition of this reference book for the mining industry.
